

VanZyverden's
TULIP FLAMING MEMORY

Tulips are the indispensable blooms of the spring garden, as they bring it to life! They are unique in the range of size, shape and bold color found in almost every color spectrum that only tulips provide. Tulips are suitable for a wide range of plantings and are excellent in the rock garden, in formal beds, as elegant cut flowers and for containers. They can be used in nearly any garden design scheme. Flowers are upward facing, with linear to lance-shaped green leaves on the stem. Tulip descriptions can become quite technical, as they are grouped into 15 different divisions describing the petals, stamens and leaves in detail. Plant several different varieties of tulips throughout the garden to extend the blooming time.

Growing Instructions: To ensure optimal results, allow adequate space and sunlight, plant at the appropriate depth and feed with a well balanced fertilizer. Remove the flowers after they bloom, but allow the leaves to yellow before removing. They are best planted in late fall. Some gardeners treat tulips as annuals. For an informal look, plant in groups in natural swathes or bouquets.

Care Tip: In USDA zones 8-10, refrigerate the bulbs for no less than eight weeks. In the garden, plant them before frost, but not as early as in the northern part of the country. Planting them in a lightly shaded area will keep them cool and prolong blooming.
