

Care and Storage Instructions

Proper care of your hammock will greatly extend its use. As with all hammocks, the best thing you can do to extend its use is to properly store the hammock when not being used. UV rays from sun exposure as well as rain and other moisture will break down and discolor the natural cotton fibers of the rope. To avoid this natural process, properly store the rope hammock, the pad, and the pillow when it's not being used.

For spots on the cotton rope hammock, the pad, or the pillow, wash gently with a mild soap and water solution. Scrub gently with a soft brush and rinse thoroughly. Allow to completely dry before storage. Do not use any type of harsh chemicals when cleaning.

The hammock stand has a powder coated outdoor finish. However the stand will develop scratches over time especially where the stand pieces fit together. To avoid excessive rust, wipe these areas of moisture. Before storing the stand, wipe thoroughly to wipe off moisture and dirt. Store stand in a dry location.

We hope your hammock provides years of enjoyment and with proper care it should last years. However, at some point the hammock may become worn or unsightly from exposure to the elements. You can purchase a replacement rope hammock at various web retailers. Look for Algoma model number 4901C cotton rope hammock.
