Growing Guide Mondo Grass

Mondo grass care is very easy but you do need to choose the right spot, and prepare the bed for best results. Lighter colored mondo grass need more sun whereas darker colored mondo grass needs more shade. Either location works well provided soil is well draining and free of invasive weeds. After the plant grows you can divide the clumps into multiple plants for planting in more than one spot, each group with several heads and plant 4 to 12 inches apart depending on how quickly you want the area to fill in. Dwarf mondo should be planted closer together 2 to 4 inches apart. Cover roots and heads with loose soil but avoid covering the crown of the plant. Keep soil moderately moist during establishment. Drought resistant once established.
