CONSUMER REVIEWS:

Finally a truly tough and durable storage container!! Previous storage boxes I have purchased over the years from local stores were thinner plastic and always split and hence, had to be replaced every 1 to 2 years. I fully believe the ActionPacker will last a lifetime and ultimately save money by not having to continually replace.

When I was about 12 years old, my Boy Scout group took a camping trip into the mountains of Georgia and we were all required to purchase one of these containers. I am now 28 years old and the same container still gets used, every month or so, when I go camping. She is tough, good looking, and when I am not camping - She sits in the garage ready to deploy with all of my gear. There is something to be said about the impeccable design quality, rigidity and usefulness of this packer. When I read the review about the armed forces using these overseas - I knew that I wasn't wrong. I hope this product is around for my son/daughter and their scouting life and if not - they can just borrow mine.

I have had one of these in the bed of my truck for 15 years. Stored ropes, gloves, tiedown straps, and the like. If you want something rough and that will last, this is it.

This is definitely one of the best storage/transportation solutions on the market. Have owned several models for years for hunting, fishing, camping etc and still going strong.
