Limited Product Warranty

This Limited Warranty is applicable solely to the original purchaser of the system. It covers all Manufacturer-supplied items that are proven to be defective in material, workmanship, or factory preparation. Notably, this warranty pertains to parts only, with all labor explicitly excluded. Labor exclusions encompass services related to the removal, replacement, installation, adjustment, maintenance, and repair of the unit or its components.

Furthermore, any non-Manufacturer labor required for servicing the unit, including installation, adjustment, maintenance, and repair, is not covered by this warranty. The warranty period spans the first full calendar year from the date of purchase.

It is crucial to note that this Limited Warranty is contingent upon the system being installed, used, and maintained in compliance with all instructions and requirements enclosed with the system.
Failure to observe these conditions will render the warranty void:

- Damage to the appearance or exterior of the product, including any defacement or alteration in design or construction.
- Alteration, removal, or inability to determine the original serial number of the product.
- Damage resulting from power line surges, user-inflicted damage to the AC power cord, or connection to an improper voltage source.
- Damage caused by misuse, accidents, or acts of nature, such as floods or other natural disasters.
- Repairs performed by unauthorized service agents or the use of non-genuine parts obtained from unauthorized sources.
- Units that have been transferred from their original owner, thus voiding the warranty.
- Products sold as refurbished, like new, second-hand, or under "As-Is" or "Final Sale" terms, which are exempt from warranty coverage.
- Usage of the product in commercial or rental settings, where warranties may differ from those applicable to residential use.
- Use of the product in settings beyond ordinary household use or not in accordance with provided instructions, leading to warranty invalidation.
- Damages resulting from service calls made due to improper installations or user errors.
- Exclusion of warranty coverage for glass parts and other accessory items provided with the unit.
- Transportation and shipping costs associated with the replacement or repair of the unit, which are the responsibility of the consumer.
